

Kids FarmSafe Week

Social Media Guide

The Canadian Agricultural Safety Association is proud to host the inaugural Kids FarmSafe Week, taking place May 13-19, 2024 to raise awareness about farm safety for children and youth.

Below are some social media posts to help encourage all Canadians to #KeepKidsFarmSafe.

For more information about Kids FarmSafe Week, visit www.kidsfarmsafe.ca.

Image Link
(general)	It's Kids FarmSafe Week! Together, let's nurture the future of agriculture. Together, we can #KeepKidsFarmSafe. Learn more: kidsfarmsafe.ca .
(drowning)	DYK that drownings can happen in less than two inches of water? Sadly, victims of drownings on farms are often kids. Address water hazards and talk about water safety with your kids. Let's #KeepKidsFarmSafe. Learn more: kidsfarmsafe.ca .
(animals)	What's cuter than a baby farm animal? It can be tempting for children to want to get close, but a protective mother can be aggressive. Let's #KeepKidsFarmSafe by teaching them about being safe around livestock. Learn more at kidsfarmsafe.ca .
(mental health)	We all need to take care of our mental health. And kids are no exception. Help #KeepKidsFarmSafe by promoting mental wellness and modelling self-care. More info at kidsfarmsafe.ca .
(machinery)	Farm machinery is essential on every farm. But farm equipment can be dangerous, and injuries can happen very quickly. Let's #KeepKidsFarmSafe. More info at kidsfarmsafe.ca .
(falls)	Every parent knows that kids love to climb! And there are plenty of places to climb on the farm, but also plenty of risk. Falls from a height are dangerous for everyone, including kids. For info on how to #KeepKidsFarmSafe: kidsfarmsafe.ca .
(health)	When it comes to keeping kids safe and healthy on the farm, don't forget about protecting them from heat, cold and other health hazards. Let's all #KeepKidsFarmSafe. Find more info at kidsfarmsafe.ca .